

OLD WAR OFFICE

The Old War Office is one of the most iconic and historically important buildings in Whitehall.

It was a department of the British Government responsible for the administration of the British Army between the 17th century and 1964, when its functions were transferred to the Ministry of Defence.

In 2013 Heritage Surveys Ltd appointed Triton Restoration as the main contractor to undertake all external cleaning and masonry repairs of the building.

The Portland stonework, including all external decorative stonework, entire turrets/domes and parapet walls, were cleaned.
